

Dechra is an international company specializing in veterinary medicine and related products. We are top experts in the development, production and sales and marketing of high quality products used by veterinarians around the world.

Dechra's six values: Dedication, Enjoyment, Courage, Honesty, Relationships and Ambition, reflect our organization's culture and competences. We adhere to these values on all levels of our operations and they are woven into everything we do. It is important to us how we communicate with people, how we always seek to do things even better, and how we think about the people and animals behind our products.

Genera is the leading producer of veterinary medicine products for the protection of the health of animals in the Republic of Croatia. Genera has been a member of the Dechra Group since 2015.

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

FOR THE GENERA d.d. ANNUAL AWARD FOR 2020

The Genera d.d. award is presented as recognition of success in studies and additional interest in scientific or professional work in the field of veterinary medicine or related areas. The one-off award of 1000 Euros in the HRK equivalent may only be granted to above-average regular students in their 2nd to 6th year of studies at the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine of the University of Zagreb. It is also support for their continued studies and an incentive for further creative work.

Applications for the scholarships must contain: a motivational letter, the student's CV and grade point average transcript, and copies of documents demonstrating other achievements, such as professional education, awards received, published scientific papers etc. The application should also include the positive opinions of two members of the teaching staff or experts working in the veterinary profession.

Send your application in electronic form (with the subject: "For the Genera Award") by 30.10.2020. to: Vanja.Matijasevic@dechra.com

The results of the contest will be announced and the award presented at the special session of the Faculty Council of the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine of the University of Zagreb, held to mark the Faculty Day.
